Overview

Ben Rouse has experience across a broad spectrum of employment law matters including litigation, investigations, data protection, advisory and transactional support.

Clients in the Legal 500 (2024) say: "We have had to make very difficult business decisions while we power through a troubling economic climate (including restructures, workforce reductions and major payroll changes) and through this, our Partner Philip Cameron and Associate Ben Rouse have been able to guide us through each process, with clear and comprehensive advice. I continue to be very happy with their partnership with us."

Prior to becoming a Solicitor, Ben worked as a Management Consultant at PwC. He then completed his training contract at US law firm Morgan Lewis, during which he gained experience in the employment, corporate, litigation and structured finance departments.
